

2014 MAISON L'ENVOYÉ BOURGOGNE BLANC

Review Summary

88 pts – Very Good “This very nice French Chardonnay from the Maconnaise area of Burgundy is a pretty yellow with a slight greenish tinge in the glass. On the nose, I picked up aromas of lemon, orange blossom, light oak and green hay. It is light to medium bodied and bit rustic with bright acidity. Its flavors are a slightly earthy green apple and lemon rind with integrated minerality. It has a very pleasant long finish with citrus, spice and hazelnut notes. A crisp skinned garlic roast chicken would be quite enjoyable with this wine.”

86 pts “There is a trace of matchstick character sitting atop the relatively restrained nose that consists mostly of citrus, apple and soft floral scents. The energetic and well-detailed middle weight flavors possess a clean and sleek mouth feel before terminating in a mildly fruity but agreeably dry finish.”
